

SPRECKELS MIXES IN HAWAII FIGHT

SUGAR KING MAKES AN OFFER TO PRESIDENT DOLE.

Will Work For Annexation—Control Of Trade of the Island is the Modest Price Asked by the Big Millionaire as the Reward For His Assistance.

Honolulu, Sept. 22 (via San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 30).—The last mail from the coast brought an important and surprising proposition to the Hawaiian government. This was nothing less than an offer from the American sugar trust to cease its fight on annexation and even to help the passage of the measure before the senate if the Hawaiian government would withdraw its opposition to the interests of Claus Spreckels on the islands. This news has been kept quiet, but there is no question as to its truth.

President Dole has won every point in his long fight against Spreckels, and he scored a big advantage recently when he gave Hawaiian register to the big Pacific Mail liner China, with good assurance that two other vessels of the same line would be granted similar favors. This would practically shut out Spreckels' Hawaiian line and would cause him heavy loss.

This is regarded as the real reason why the old sugar king now appears as a peacemaker, offering gifts for favors. The fact that Theodore H. Davis & Co., who control eight large plantations, recently went over to Spreckels and abandoned the combination of planters was thought to indicate that Spreckels had gained the upper hand, but the advantages given to the Pacific Mail company were more than an offset for this gain.

From one high in authority it is learned that President Dole and his cabinet are not averse to enter upon negotiations with Spreckels. Annexation is a matter of life and death to the island government, and it will make many sacrifices to be assured that the treaty will pass next December.

Will Japan Compromise?

Washington, Sept. 30.—Minister Hoshi of Japan said yesterday that he had no information that Japan had offered to accept $100,000 in gold from the Hawaiian government as full indemnity for the rejection of 1,200 Japanese by the Hawaiian authorities. If such an indemnity were paid by the Hawaiian government the necessity for proceeding with the arbitration arranged for of course would be obviated. At the state department Assistant Secretary Day gave an absolute denial to the statement that in United States Minister Harold Sewall's report to the department he had mentioned $100,000 as probably representing the figure which Hawaii would pay to settle the Japanese claim.

Great Britain Will Protest.

Washington, Sept. 30.—When the question of the annexation of the Hawaiian islands comes up before the United States senate Great Britain will make a protest. This protest will not be of a belligerent nature, and it is only the forerunner of a scheme to obtain control of Necker island for cable purposes. Both the United States and Hawaiian governments know positively that Great Britain does not object to the annexation of the islands. But she must have a cable landing near Honolulu, and the landing must be on British soil. Necker island is practically worthless to Hawaii, and it is believed that this government will readily cede the barren rock to please Great Britain.

Big Fire at Ironton, Ohio.

Ironton, Ohio, Sept. 30.—This city was threatened with destruction tonight. At 7 o'clock the sawmill of Newman & Spencer was discovered on fire. Before the fire department reached the scene the flames had extended to the lumber yards. The long drought had made everything so combustible that the flames swept everything. The fire soon also wiped out the mills and lumber yards of the Pennsylvania Lumber Company. The fire soon threatened the waterworks, and word was sent to Catlettsburg, Ashland and Portsmouth for relief. The arrival of the Ashland (Ky.) department with several thousand feet of hose, and the Catlettsburg (Ky.) fire engine by a special boat practically placed the fire under control. The loss is estimated at from $300,000 to $400,000, with hardly half that amount of insurance.

Big Explosion at Santa Cruz.

Santa Cruz, Cal., Sept. 30.—At 2 o'clock Wednesday morning a disastrous explosion which wrecked several buildings but was unattended by loss of life occurred at the works of the California Powder company. Eight mills, including the mixing, glazing and packing houses and their contents, consisting of valuable machinery and about 200 tons of powder, were destroyed, the loss aggregating about $250,000.

Canada to Revise Its Tariff.

London, Sept. 30.—The Times' Ottawa correspondent claims on the highest authority that after the expiration in July, 1898, of the commercial treaties now in force, Canada will adopt a tariff that will be essentially pro-British.

THE LEADERS WIN.

No Change in the Race for the National League Pennant.

The situation in the National League race remains unchanged as a result of yesterday's games. Boston is almost at the goal. Two more victories will put her beyond Baltimore's reach. Washington yesterday worked its strongest pitcher, and yet Baltimore won. Those who expected the champions to weaken after losing the series to Boston are disappointed. The chances are Baltimore will win all four of the games from Washington if they are needed to get the pennant. Standing of the clubs:

BIG LOSS BY FIRE.

Serious Blaze in Washington—Damage Is Fully $600,000.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Fire broke out in the central power station of the Capital Traction Company a few minutes before 11 o'clock Wednesday night and in thirty minutes the six-story structure was doomed. The building occupied the entire block from Pennsylvania avenue to C street and from Thirteenth and a half street to Fourteenth. The walls began to fall by 12 o'clock, and with the decreasing heat men were enabled to get to work on adjoining property. Several houses, however, were destroyed.

Two hours after the first alarm was given the huge building was reduced to a few crumbling walls. The loss on adjoining buildings will not be large, as those burned are old and small. The property of the Traction Company, including stock and machinery, approximated in value $400,000. Losses of concerns occupying rooms in the building will swell the total loss to about $600,000. Other losses on surrounding establishments are the Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railway Company building, $10,000, probably fully insured; two-story blacksmith shop, $7,000; J. F. Manning, marble yard, stock damaged.

Bay State Republicans.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 30.—The Republican state convention of Massachusetts nominated Roger Wolcott for governor. The platform adopted stands for a firm but moderate foreign policy, an extension of the merit system in the civil service and more stringent immigration and naturalization laws. The declaration of the financial plank is by inference in favor of the gold standard, and consists of a rhetorical arraignment of Bryan, Debs and Altgeld as exponents of disorder and free silver.

Scale of Miners Accepted.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 30.—The coal strike in the Danville district has ended, the operators acceding to the demands of the miners. The Kellyville, Westville, Himrod, Pawnee, Brookside, Economy and Delaware coal companies signed the scale. The only companies that have not signed are the Consolidated and the Glenburn. The scale is 51 cents for screened coal and 37 cents for mine run in pick mines and 22 1-5 for machine mines.

Will Work Among the Miners.

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 30.—The annual meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the Tenth congressional district opened here Wednesday. All the unions were represented. The reports showed thirty-five unions in the district and 988 members. The work among the railroad men was dropped from the list and it was decided to adopt a department of work among the miners.

Cannot Pay the Springfield Scale.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 30.—The coal operators of Northern Illinois declare they cannot pay the Springfield scale, as under it they cannot compete with mines in other districts of this state and of Indiana. The Joliet News on Monday printed a letter to this effect from the executive committee of the soft coal mine operators of Northern Illinois.

Universalists at Earlville, Ill.

Earlville, Ill., Sept. 30.—Wednesday's session of the state Universalist convention held here resulted in the reelection of the old officers. Rev. F. A. Winkelman is president. Delegates to the general convention in Chicago, Oct. 19 and 21, were chosen, and it was voted to hold the next state convention at Macomb.

Monetary Commission Adjourns.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The monetary commission adjourned Wednesday until Oct. 11. After the appointment of three sub-committees the commission decided upon an adjournment to give the secretaries an opportunity to collect, collate and classify such suggestions as might be received.

SPANISH CABINET QUIT THEIR SEATS

CONSERVATIVE MINISTERS RESIGN THEIR POSITIONS.

Sagasta is the New Leader—Liberal Ministry to be Formed—Weyler Likely to be Superseded and Autonomy Granted to the Island Of Cuba—As Viewed at Washington

Madrid, Sept. 30.—The Spanish cabinet has resigned and the queen has accepted the resignations. She has, however, ever, asked Gen. Azcarraga to continue in office until a solution of the crisis is found.

SEÑOR SAGASTA.

Her majesty will summon the leaders of the various parties and the presidents of the chamber to consult as to the situation. Senor Sagasta has been telegraphed for, and it is believed that the liberal leader will be asked to form a cabinet. It is said that Senor Sagasta is in favor of superseding Capt.-Gen. Weyler and of granting autonomy to Cuba immediately.

Senor Gamazo will probably be minister of foreign affairs in the new cabinet.

AS VIEWED AT WASHINGTON.

Official of the State Department Talks of the Situation.

Washington, Sept. 30.—A prominent official of the state department, in discussing the cablegram from Madrid, said that, in his opinion, the dissolution of the conservative cabinet would result in the liberals being placed in control, with their leader, Sagasta, as prime minister. One of the first acts of a liberal cabinet would be to recall General Weyler and the dispatching of Field Marshal Martinez Campos to Havana to assume command. The officials of the state department are emphatic in their statement that the resignation of the cabinet was in no wise influenced by the instructions which Minister Woodford presented to the Duke of Tetuan.

There is no doubt whatever that the relations between Spain and the United States had reached a crisis when President McKinley was inaugurated. The delay incident to a change in United States ministers at Madrid postponed the threatened rupture in diplomatic relations. Before Minister Woodford received his final instructions the conservative premier was assassinated.

The queen regent, with Minister Woodford's instructions before her, will organize the cabinet with a knowledge of the consequences involved. It is believed here that the conservatives, who are not unpatriotic, and who fully realize the enormous responsibilities involved, will readily consent to a liberal cabinet. Their well-defined policy of conciliation would warrant the liberals in accepting the good offices of the United States, and the Cuban war would terminate.

INDIANA'S ASSESSMENT.

Foots Up a Total of $1,289,191,713 the Largest in the State's History.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—The state auditor has completed the footings of the assessment of all classes of property in Indiana this year. There are 22,435,182 acres of land assessed at $453,487,733, as against 22,401,613 acres assessed at $453,135,559 last year. The average valuation an acre is $20.21, as against $20.22 last year. The improvements on the land are assessed at $83,898,561, as against $82,798,721 last year. The lots of the state are valued at $150,218,220, as against $150,101,305 last year, and the improvements on the lots are assessed at $162,892,389, as against $156,282,730 last year. The personal property is valued at $278,324,983, as against $277,983,995 last year. The total value of lands, lots, improvements and personal property is $1,289,191,713, as against $1,280,302,020 last year. The state board of tax commissioners assessed the property of railroads, telegraph and telephone companies, sleeping-car companies and express companies at $169,369,827, making a total value of property for the purposes of taxation $1,289,191,713. The valuation is the highest in the history of the state.

Orthodox Friends Meet.

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 30.—The Indiana yearly meeting of Orthodox Friends began its seventy-eighth annual session here Wednesday, with a large attendance, including a number of well-known ministers from other yearly meetings.

LAYMEN ARE UNITED IN THEIR DEMANDS

WILL ASK REPRESENTATION IN METHODIST CONFRENCES.

Assail Ministerial Power—No Taxation Without Representation Is Their Cry—Indiana Laymen Issue An Address Setting Forth Their Position.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—"No taxation without representation" is the shibboleth of the Methodist laymen who are heading the movement for increased lay representation in the church conferences. The Methodist layman says the system of government in his church is monarchical, a survival of monarchical ideas and influences, and therefore out of date in the United States and distasteful to American citizens.

Casting sentiment aside and reducing the demand for greater lay representation to a business proposition, it takes this form: "The church builders and the salary payers are entitled to at least an equal voice in the government of the church."

Twenty of the leading Methodist laymen of Chicago have signed the call for the meeting a week from Thursday when the movement is to be given an impetus.

UNITY AMONG LAYMEN URGED.

Indiana Address to Methodists Regarding Equal Representation.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—Ex-Gov. Cumbach, president, and John B. Conner, secretary of the committee appointed by the Indiana convention of laymen of the Methodist Episcopal church, recently held here to issue an address to the laymen of the church in the United States, have sent out the following: "To the laymen of the Methodist Episcopal church of the United States:

In pursuance to a call of fifty prominent and active laymen of the Methodist Episcopal church of this state a convention was held at Indianapolis Sept. 15 to consider the important question of equal representation with the ministers in the general conference of the church. The convention met and was composed of earnest, representative men and women from every portion of the state.

Resolutions were adopted with entire unanimity in favor of equal representation and declaring that the best interests of the church would be greatly promoted by granting it at the next meeting of the general conference.

The convention also appointed thirty delegates to a national convention to be held in 1898. Our convention was the first state convention called for this purpose. Others have since been called, and in the conferences in many parts of the country lay organizations have been formed for the same purpose."

THE BONES OF A HOG.

Expert Witnesses Contradict Each Other in the Luetgert Trial.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Dr. W. A. Allport identified the alleged human femur produced by the state as a proof of the murder of Mrs. Luetgert as the femur of a hog, and gave many reasons for his identification; he said the sesamoid may be that of a human being or of any one of several animals. Prof. J. H. Long testified that Luetgert's alleged soap making would produce the results proved by the state as the results of the alleged murder; he flatly contradicted Prof. Delafontaine as to the results of the latter's analyses, and asserts that the liquid given him by the state could not have resulted from the boiling of human remains.

Affraid to Indict the Lynchers.

Indianapolis, Sept. 30.—The state officials have received information from Ripley county that convinces them the failure of the grand jury to indict the lynchers of the five men at Versailles was the result of fear, and not because sufficient evidence was not secured. Governor Mount is so chagrined over the failure of the grand jury to indict that he is considering a recommendation in his next message to the legislature, asking that a law be passed to conduct inquiries into crime by the grand jury of another county when prejudice or fear prevents the grand jury having jurisdiction over the accused from doing its duty.

Another Move Against Fulton.

Fulton, Ill., Sept. 30.—Judge Gest of Rock Island went to Morrison Wednesday and forbade the clerk of the circuit court to issue any more injunctions granted by Master in Chancery McPherran on the ground that the latter had no right to grant them while there was a judge in the county who could act. This, of course, is to prevent Fulton from obtaining another injunction against the removal of the Modern Woodmen offices and to prevent it from again taking the matter into court. The fight, however, is not yet ended.

Gen. Warner in the Field.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 30.—It is asserted at the free silver Republican headquarters here that General A. J. Warner will soon issue a letter to the Democrats and free silver forces in Ohio announcing that he will stand as a candidate for the United States senate before the next legislature. This is the result of a combination of the anti-McLean Democrats with the free silver Republicans.

HOMES FOR MILLIONS.

Senator Carey of Wyoming Points to the Glorious West.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 30.—The features of Wednesday's session of the national irrigation congress were addresses by former Senator Cary of Wyoming, who was elected as president of the organization, and by William J. Bryan. The former spoke at length of the purposes and aims of irrigation, and expressed confidence in its boundless utility, while the latter opposed corporate control, unless under safeguards ample to protect the small holders of land.

During his address Mr. Carey spoke of the resources of the West. So far as this country is concerned, he said, the people are always ahead of the prophets of the future. There is room in the West for at least 75,000,000 people. The people, he asserted, are to be agriculturists. There is a need, however, of scientific and practical men to aid in the development of this territory.

Yellow Jack Grows Worse.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 30.—Summed up at 11 o'clock Wednesday night, the local yellow fever situation was somewhat worse than it has been at any time since the first case and death were reported. The death list was greater than on any single day before. At 9 o'clock four deaths had been reported and identified, another was pronounced to have been due to yellow fever, and at least two patients were considered to be in a critical condition. The death rate was 12.7 per cent.

Freedom or Nothing.

Havana, Sept. 30.—The military commanders of the Cuban army are determined to accept nothing short of independence. On this proposition Gens. Maximo Gomez, Calixto Garcia, V. Ducast, Jose Rodriguez and Alejandro Rodriguez are of one mind. Autonomy they will absolutely and unequivocally reject. They say further that if the United States can only do this for Cuba, the United States had better keep hands off, for Cuba will soon be free by force of arms.

Yellow Fever in Indiana.

English, Ind., Sept. 30.—A supposed case of yellow fever is reported at Mifflin, seven miles southwest of here. The patient is Edward McKinley. He returned from Jonesboro, McKinnity, it is said, has true yellow fever symptoms. Dr. George R. Hazelwood, secretary of the county board of health, refuses to admit it is yellow fever, but Dr. N. W. King does not hesitate to pronounce it a genuine case, and refuses to attend it.

Great Fire in Manila.

Manila, Philippine Islands, Sept. 30.—A fire here yesterday destroyed the gendarmes' quarters; the public library, the museum, the offices of the department for the inspection of forests and many other public buildings, involving great pecuniary loss. In the panic which resulted from the conflagration many people were burned to death and trampled upon or otherwise seriously injured. The disaster is said to be of incendiary origin.

Receiver for Town Asked.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 30.—A number of residents and property owners made application in chancery court here for a receiver for the town of Lookout Mountain. The applicants in a sensational bill charge insolvency and mismanagement and fraud on the part of the officials. No election for town officers has been held in eight years.

Pern Desirous of Reciprocity.

Lima, Sept. 30.—El Comercio, in an editorial, asks congress to authorize the government to negotiate a reciprocity treaty with the United States. The paper also asks that congress revoke the duty on crude petroleum coming into Peru in order to avoid the United States duties at San Francisco on shipments from Peru.

Mining Situation in Indiana.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 30.—The joint conference of Indiana miners and operators set for Wednesday was indefinitely postponed. The officials agreed that so long as the Danville, Ill., district miners did not go to work at less than the Columbus scale the Indiana miners should continue at work at 56 cents.

The small company of relatives and intimate friends who were present enjoyed an elaborate wedding supper after the ceremony, and at 9:30 Mr. and Mrs. Gunn left for the north, to make a tour of the lakes. They will return in ten days, to make their home on the groom's farm, in the town of Rock. Many presents bespeak the good wishes of friends. The bride, who is a graduate of the Janesville high school, has been a successful teacher in the public schools, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gunn, and has become recognized as one of the most valued of the younger citizens of the town of Rock.

RANDALL IS KNOWN FOR COOL COURAGE

APPOINTMENT TO ALASKA RE- GARDED AS FITTING.

Throughout His Army Life He Has Shown Executive Skill and Perfect Fearlessness—His Work During the Crook Campaign Reviewed in a Cheyenne Dispatch.

Very few of the picturesque phases of Lieutenant Colonel George M. Randall's army life are known to his Janesville friends. His modesty as to his own achievements is proverbial. His army associates take pleasure in telling of his exploits however. They note with pleasure that he has been entrusted with the command of the Colonel Randall.

United States military post to be established in Alaska. A Cheyenne dispatch says:

"Lieutenant Colonel Randall has had an eventful career in the army of the United States. He enlisted in the civil war as a private in the Fourth United States Infantry, in April, 1861. In October, 1861, he was made a second lieutenant. He served with the Fourth until he reached the rank of major, when he was placed in command of the Fourteenth New York artillery. At the close of the civil war he was made first lieutenant of the Fourth United States Infantry, and in the army reorganization was transferred to the Twenty-third Infantry as captain. He served as captain and major of the Twenty-third during all the important Indian campaigns of the west and was made lieutenant colonel of the Eighth Infantry in 1894. Colonel Randall has been five times brevetted by congress for gallant and meritorious conduct in battle, as follows: September 17, 1862, brevetted captain for service at Antietam, Va.; April 2, 1863, brevetted major for gallant services at Petersburg, Virginia; April 20, 1865, brevetted lieutenant colonel and colonel for gallant services at Fort Steadman, Va.; Feb. 27, 1890, brevetted lieutenant colonel for gallantry in actions against the Apache Indians at Turret Mountain and Diamond Batter, Arizona; Feb. 27, 1897, brevetted colonel for gallant services against the Apache Indians at Pinar, Arizona, and for distinguished services in Indian campaigns. During the campaigns of General Crook against the Sioux Indians Colonel Randall, then major of the Twenty-third, was his right hand man, serving as one of his staff officers and commanding his Indian scouts. Randall's fight against the Apache Indians at Turret Mountain in 1873 served to close the Apache war, which had been in progress several years. The Indians had taken refuge on the summit of Turret Mountain, where they were certain no enemy would follow. Randall surrounded the stronghold at night. He made his men crawl up the face of the mountain on their hands and knees. They reached the summit at midnight and at dawn Colonel Randall led a fierce charge against the surprised Apaches, many of whom in their efforts to escape dashed over the precipitous side of the mountain to death. The defeat broke the spirit of the tribes and peace was soon made with them. Col. Randall is a man of fine physique and is a magnificent looking soldier. He is extremely affable and has thousands of friends throughout the west. He has indomitable will power, combined with extremely good judgment and no better officer could have been selected by the government to protect American interests on the Alaska-British Columbia frontier.

VETERANS ON DRESS PARADE SUPT. MAYNE LEADS THE CITY SECTION

Brigade Formed At the Reunion of Green County Soldiers Yesterday.

Janesville veterans were present in considerable numbers at the reunion of Green county old soldiers yesterday. The veterans were organized as a battalion and had a dress parade of the old style in the public square. Colonel Gray took command, W. H. Bennett, A. A. G. of the department, acted as adjutant, and the following were designated as captains of the several companies; Captain P. J. Clawson, A; Colonel S. P. Schadel, B; Captain A. N. Randall, C; Captain Edward Ruger, D; Captain Henry Hohn, E; Captain Flint, F; Captain C. A. Booth, G; Captain A. S. Douglas, H; Captain John Meahan, I; Captain George Pietzsch, K.

The blunders of the officers and the severe reprimands administered by the commanding officer furnished much amusement for the rank and file; and the citizens.

The morning programme at the hall consisted of a patriotic invocation by the Rev. Charles Varney, an address of welcome by Captain A. S. Douglas, mayor of Monroe, a response by Captain A. N. Randall of Brodhead, songs led by Colonel E. O. Kimberly of Janesville.

After a dinner served by the W. C. man's Relief corps, a business meeting was held, at which Brodhead was selected as the place of meeting in 1898, and Captain A. N. Randall was elected president.

The officers elected were as follows: Quartermaster, G. D. Spaulding of Brodhead. A vice-president was elected from every township in the county.

A two hours programme followed. Colonel Gray, the principal speaker, well maintained his reputation as a soldier orator. Captain Henry Sanford of Madison, contributed a good speech. Colonel Kimberly gave his famous flag song, and other pieces, effectively. Short toasts, addresses and reminiscences filled up the afternoon.

SUPT. HART'S SUCCESSOR.

Likely to Be Chosen on Oct. 14—Plans for New Schools.

It is altogether probable that a superintendent of the Waukesha Industrial school to succeed Judge Hart will be elected by the state board of control Oct. 14. The board completed the work of its monthly session last evening and adjourned until that date. There is an impression among some that Supt. Hart may not be removed after all, but so far as can be learned here there is not the slightest reason to think that this is so.

Consent was given to the establishment of day schools for the deaf at Stevens Point and Ashland. The board authorized the construction of a greenhouse at the Waukesha school at a cost of $1,000.

BUILDING A BIG SHOW TOWN

Al. Ringling Says His New Quarters Will Be Models.

Al. Ringling, the showman who spent a portion of Tuesday in this city, says that they are now building a regular Ringlingville for the show at Baraboo. The big animal house, which is 36x110, is growing rapidly under the trowel of many brick masons. The walls are now nearly eight feet from the stone foundation. It is a solid wall built of white brick with one brick partition. The elephant house is under way, the foundation being nearly completed. Its ground floor dimensions are 60x60 feet. The pier for the wagon shed are up. This will be a wooden structure 42x100. Preparations are under way to move the ring barn several hundred feet.

HIS LEAF MISSED BY FROST

E. M. Calkins Took Long Chances On a Field of Tobacco.

E. M. Calkins of this city and Jack Frost must be on the test of terms. Mr. Calkins recently purchased four acres of tobacco on the Magnolia road and not till yesterday did he commence to harvest the crop. When Mr. Calkins purchased the crop it was but half grown, the seller being glad to get rid of it very cheap three weeks ago rather than risk the frost. Despite the cold spell a week ago however the crop shows the sign of being damaged.

THE OVERFLOW OF LOCAL NEWS.

CHANCE TO GET A FACTORY

Janesville Suggested As a Site For the Racine Knitting Co's Branch.

Here is a chance for the public spirited men of Janesville. The Racine Knitting company are looking for a suitable location with ample railway facilities. H. S. Blake, principal owner of the company, has been making the rounds of the state for the past few days, looking for a location, but so far he has not determined upon a site, though several have been tendered, among which was one in Menominee. It is not his intention to leave Racine, but to establish a branch of the knitting works in some other live city in the state.

Now, the city that gets them will have to give two 50 foot lots as a site, a brick building one story high, 40x48 or 40x100 feet preferred, well lighted and ventilated but so arranged that the temperature in winter may always be maintained above 70 degrees, and a cash bonus of $6,000. In return they will guarantee, and keep up by any amount of security that may be asked, to equip the building with from $8,000 to $10,000 worth of machinery, and employ not less than 45 hands for 300 days in the year for five years after the plant has had a fair start about two months.

Mr. Blake states that they started in Racine three years ago, and at that time employed between thirty-five and forty operators. Now they have 117 girls and 23 men, and would have many more if they could get them. Their orders for next year from the Pacific coast agents amount to $25,000 in excess of the whole year's output of the Racine plant. They must build in a city where female help is abundant. Janesville can easily supply this want and in other respects would seem to be a very suitable location.

J. W. Baggett, of Oak Grove, Wis., had an attack of the measles, nearly three years ago, and the disease left him with very severe pains in the chest. "I thought I would die," he writes; "but to my great joy, I was saved by Chamberlain's Pain Balm." Pains in the chest nearly always indicate the approach of pneumonia, and by promptly applying this liniment on a flannel cloth, which should be bound on the chest, an attack of pneumonia may be prevented. It is always prompt and effectual. For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by C. D. Stevens, Pharmacy corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Cycle Races at Stoughton, Excursion Rates

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway will sell excursion tickets to Stoughton at a fare and a third for the round trip, October 1 and 2, good for return until and including October 4, on account of cycle races.

Mr. James E. Farrell for Burnt House, W. Va., has discarded all other diarrhoea medicines and now handles only Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He has used it in his family and sold it to his customers for years, and has no hesitation in saying that it is the best remedy for colic and diarrhoea he has ever known. It not only gives relief, but effects a permanent cure. It is also pleasant and safe to take, making it an ideal remedy for bowel complaints. For sale by O. D. Stevens' Pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Bad Smell Made Agreeable.

Oil on the farm of Widow Blake tormented her sensitive nose to such an extent that she was on the point of leaving in disgust. When she was told that her share from a new well would be $30 a day, she opened all the windows in the house and now says crude petroleum smells sweeter than attar of roses.

To Whom It May Concern.

I have been in the drug business for twelve years and during that time, have sold nearly all thorough medicines manufactured; and from my personal knowledge of such remedies, I say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other on the market. W. M. Terry, Elkton, Ky. Sold by O. D. Stevens, Pharmacist, Corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

State Conference of Charities.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 30.—Announcement is made by the state board of charities of the second annual state conference of charities, which will be held this year at Jacksonville, November 17-19. The Business Men's association of Jacksonville has prepared a handsome program of entertainment.

The Family Friend.

No remedy has a better right to that title than Kickapoo Indian Oil. It is good for internal and external use, and it is pains' most powerful panacea. No one can say "I won't have neuralgia, rheumatism, carache or any other acute pain." But every one who knows there's a bottle of Kickapoo Indian Oil in the house can say "I won't have neuralgia or any other pain long." The power of this oil over pain is the greatest marvel of modern medicine. It controls pain at once. It cures the cause promptly. There's no remedy reaches so many kinds of pain as Kickapoo Indian Oil.

Thinks Work Can Be Extended.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Secretary Wilson wants more money for the extension of the bureau under his control and will ask Congress for appropriations to enable him to carry out plans he has in mind. These bureaus are: The weather, animal industry and farmers' bulletins. Forecast work, he thinks, can be extended with profit; the demand for farmers' bulletins is increasing, and the new butter shipment experiments are worthy of encouragement.

To Open Up a Rich Country.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 30.—The projected road from Chihuahua, Mexico, to the west coast, which is to be built under a concession granted to Henry C. Creel and Alfred A. Spindlove, will soon be commenced. This line will open and give transportation facilities to many mining districts, extensive agricultural and grazing lands, and immense forests of splendid timber. A branch from some point near where it would strike the Fuerte river could reach the famous Batopilas mines.

Gold Colored at the Denver Mint.

Denver, Col., Sept. 30.—Denver branch mint gold bullion receipts have been computed by Assayer W. J. Puckett's force for nine months. The receipts for September aggregated $1,149,365.59, a gain of $706,008.85. For nine months, from Jan. 1, the receipts aggregated $8,388,088.56, a gain of $5,259,652.40. Assayer Puckett predicts that the mint will receive $11,000,000 during the year.

Osman Digna on the Move.

Saukum, Sept. 30.—Gov. Parsons has started from Massowah to Cassala, probably in connection with the cession of that place by the Italians to the British. It is reported that Osman Digna, the famous general of the mahdi, has gone to Omdurman, the military camp of the dervishes, near Khartoum. Deserters from Osman Digna's forces have reached Sinkat and are joining the Anglo-Egyptian army.

Sale of Union Pacific.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 30.—The Union Pacific's attorney, J. W. Lacey, Tuesday filed a copy of the foreclosure notice and sale of the Union Pacific roads. The notice provides that no bid shall be accepted for a less sum than $13,645,250. Ten per cent of the bids made must be paid to the master in chancery at Omaha at least five days before the sale. The date of the sale is fixed for Nov. 1.

Not Likely to Be a Strike.

St. Louis, Sept. 30.—The grievance committee of the Order of Railway Conductors and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of the Gould system met separately yesterday. The sessions were executive. The chairmen of both organizations said after the meetings that there was no prospect of a strike on the Gould or any other system.

Discouraging.

"It's jes' my luck," said Farmer Corn-tassel, gloomily. "I'm the wust guesser a-goin'." The only sure way for a man to git along is ter make up his mind what he's a-gointer do an' keep doin' jes' that."

"Have you had bad luck?"

Taking No Chances.

"Then there is no hope, doctor?" asked the fair woman, her face bedewed with the tears of a great grief.

"None at all," answered the savant, murmuring: "How she must love him!" in a soft aside.

"You are sure?"

"Well, I'll risk it. I'd hate, though, to buy that bit of black goods and have him get well on me."—Judge.

A Deadlier Weapon.

Mosely Wraggs—I knowed you wouldn't git anything at that house. But wot did ye run fur w'en the woman come to the door? I thought you'd faced too many of 'em to be skeered off by a woman's tongue.

"Lost at Sea."

Many a fishing schooner that sails out of Gloucester with her ensign fluttering gaily from the "main truck" comes in by Cape Ann, on her return from the "Banks," with her colors at half-mast. A dory or two lost in the fog or run down in thick weather by an ocean greyhound that no more felt the collision than if it crushed an egg-shell—at all events, a couple of men or more for Davy Jones' locker—such is only too often the tale brought back from the fishing grounds to Gloucester, our chief fishing port. Tears at parting, weeks of anxious suspense, and when the ship comes home tears again for a lost husband, son or brother—that story is common enough on Massachusetts bay. And even if neighbors say, "Don't cry, dearie! Perhaps some ship has picked him up, and he'll come back to you," the hope is short-lived. "Lost at sea" is a familiar line in the death columns of the Gloucester papers.—"On the Grand Banks and Elsewhere," by Gustav Kobbé, in St. Nicholas.

Ancient Libraries.

Among the many curious things revealed to the gaze of a wondering world are the clay books found among the ruins of ancient cities. Prominent among these are the wonderfully preserved records of the once proud capital of the Assyrian empire. Far away beyond the plains of Mesopotamia, on the banks of the Tigris, lie the ruins of the ancient city of Nineveh. The chief library of the city was contained in the place of Kanyun, which not long since was brought to light by an English exploring party. Referring to clay books which composed its contents, an eye witness says they were sets of tablets covered with very small letters. The tablets are all oblong in shape and when several of them are used for one book, the first line of the tablet following was written at the end of the one preceding it. The writing was done when the clay of the tablet was soft. It was then baked to harden it. Each tablet was numbered, just as the librarians number the books of which they have charge.

Heavy Output of Metal.

Leadville, Colo., Sept. 30.—This district is now producing a daily output of 2,000 tons. The average gross value of the product is about $20 per ton. Though of low grade, the amount of ore produced by Leadville is greater now than at any other time in her history.

Gold Standard for Peru.

A $25,000,000 EXPERIMENT

It is estimated that the loss to the government in the Union Pacific compromise will be about $25,000,000, and this is said to be the best that can be done under the circumstances. Those who assume that the entire railway system should be owned and operated by the nation, have nothing to oppose to the facts in this case, except a large assortment of theories. They contend that the proper way to retrieve an immense loss is to go deeper into the business, but offer nothing to support this idea except inflated predictions and promises. The government loses $25,000,000 in one venture of the kind, and has no reason to believe that further experiments in public railroading are desirable. With all its authority, credit and official organization the country has got much the worst of it in dealing with one railway system; and the people will not be apt to lose sight of this instructive sample of government railroad investment.

In the first place, through juggling in an engineering department, the government paid more than the cost of some portions of the Pacific railroad. The subsidy of $16,000 a mile in government bonds was increased to $48,000 in what was called the "mountain section," which was stretched to include hundreds of miles where the grading required was almost nothing. The government paid more cash for much of the work than went into it, and this is one of the difficulties to be considered, though it seems never to have occurred to socialist theorists.

Those who advocate the government ownership of railroads point to the postoffice as an example of good administration. The postoffice is certainly a great convenience to the whole people, but its deficit this year will be $15,000,000. As the loss falls upon the masses for the general benefit not much is said about it. But the financial fact must be borne in mind when an extension of paternal schemes is proposed.

When Senator Hanna demanded that one man be produced who had been unfairly treated by any industrial plant with which he was connected, he knocked out every democratic slander about his not being friendly to labor. But Mr. Hanna went even further, and asked that his enemies name a single one of the numerous concerns he is interested in that does not pay the highest price paid for the class of labor it employs.

The world is indebted to James J. Coogan for the knowledge that Richard Where-did-he-get-it Croker while abroad devoted much time and study to questions of municipal administration. Before Coogan spoke everybody had supposed that Croker gave his whole time, while he was in England, to racing his horses and betting upon them.

John R. McLean, now that he recognizes how little show he has to realize on his investment in the Ohio campaign, is beginning to growl about the way the campaign has been managed by the democrats. McLean is rich, but he doesn't like to pay out his money for nothing.

It has been several times remarked that Ben Butler ought to be in command at New Orleans for a few days, in order to knock the yellow fever out. He had that town cleaned as it never was before and it has never been so clean since.

Inasmuch as both Germany and Austria have their hands full in holding their own in Europe, it is little short of nonsense to talk of either helping Spain to fight the United States.

The appeal of the committee to whom was referred the matter of raising funds to send Ellsworth Huntington to assist Dr. Gates in Turkey, met with a hearty response, and Mr. Huntington will soon be on his way to Europe. He graduated from Beloit college last year and is now attending a theological school at Boston, and on learning of President Gates' call for an assistant, he volunteered to go to Europe.

RICHARDSON SUES VANKIRK

The Possession of Empire Cross Spring Co Machinery is Involved.

Alex Richardson, the shoe manufacturer has brought suit against Capt. W. T. Vankirk to recover property which he claims is his and which he says Mr. Vankirk now unlawfully holds. Mr. Richardson at one time was a heavy stockholder in the Empire Cross Spring Co. which occupied the risk building on South River street. When Mr. Vankirk purchased this building he took possession, it is said of machinery that was formerly owned by the Empire Cross Spring company, but which Mr. Vankirk claimed had become a part of the building. Mr. Richardson sues to recover this property and the case is set for trial in the municipal court next Saturday.

BENEFIT FOR BALL PLAYERS

Janesville Boys Share in Profits of Oshkosh-Waupun Game.

A benefit game of ball was played Oshkosh yesterday between the home team and the Waupun nine, the proceeds to go to the Oshkosh team of which Crall, Morrissey and Blakely, of this city are members. The Northwestern says: After these two games Morrissey and Crall will return to their homes in Janesville. Hale will return to his home in Oakland, Fond du Lac county. Blakely will not go back to the university until the first of the year, but will probably make a trip of the southern states in the interest of a Milwaukee candy firm. He would much prefer, he says, to remain in this city if he could secure employment.

Special Freight From Baraboo Strikes
Janesville Switch Engine With Six Flat Cars Near Knipp's Brewery—Train Men Have a Marvelous Escape—All Jump in Time.

A ten-wheel mogul freight engine
with a heavy freight behind it, struck
the Janesville switch engine and six flat cars, just north of the trestle on the Evansville cut-off at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The freight was a special from Baraboo, with Peter McDonald as conductor, Charles Burdick as engineer, and Fay Stepin as fireman, all of Baraboo.
John Baker was running the switch engine, and W. Hart of Baraboo, was firing for him. The switch engine was running a string of flat cars up the cut-off so that they could be set on the Spoon siding just beyond the Knipp brewery. Engineer Baker had passed the switch when the special freight swung into view only a short distance away.

There was not time to open the switch and the only chance that presented itself to avoid the disastrous collision was to run his engine back toward town and reduce the shock.
He threw his lever over but before his engine had fairly gained headway
the crash came. The six flat cars were thrown off the track and bumped along on the ties toward the high embankment at the foot of Ravine
street.

The engineer and fireman of the freight and the fireman of the switch engine jumped the moment they saw
the crash was inevitable, all expecting
that the two engines would go end
over end down the forty foot bank.

Both engines were telescoped by the shock, the front of the switch engine
being driven in and the rear trucks
shivered.

Engineer Baker stood by his throttle
until the end of the embankment was reached when he jumped and struck the soft dirt. Neither he nor any of the other trainmen except Fireman Hart were injured, their escape
being almost providential. Fireman Hart's wrist was badly sprained but he was able to walk to a doctor's office and receive attention.

The wrecking crew was called at once and began the clearing of the track.

Alfred Thatcher, of this city, brakeman on the C. & N. W. was cut about the head and shoulders by an accident in the Janesville yards at 3 o'clock this morning. He was "riding"
a car which had been "kicked"
into a siding and was caught against the side of another empty car that stood on an adjoining track.

THIEVES who rode bicycles robbed
Daniel Benedict's house on the Zader farm in the town of LaPrairie three miles south of this city yesterday afternoon. They secured two gold rings and a pair of bracelets and rode away, passing Mr. Benedict near the McQueen farm.

Two of the cows on the William McQueen farm died before the tuberculin test was made on the rest of the herd. Tests showed that none of the rest were affected with tuberculosis.
Dr. E. D. Roberts was notified that the cow belonging to George R. Boss was ailing. Judging from the description of the symptoms he pronounced
the disease tuberculosis and had State Veterinarian Clute notified. Dr. Clute
had the cow slaughtered at once.
Two other cows in Mr. Boss' barn are under surveillance.

Mr. Knight is one of the men who
returned from the gold field frankly
admitting he did not bring back a fortune with him. He says there are many others. Color can be found everywhere. But the reports from
that country furnished by newspaper
men are not to be believed, he says.
He advises men who are making a
fairly good living in the states to remain where they are. Those who have no ties to keep them here and are
bound to try their luck should go prepared to confront hardships and disappointments and use their muscles in
digging—"for the miner is the man,"
to use his own expression. Mr.
Knight believes it to be his duty to
tell of Alaska just as he found it—if
he is asked—and so the story that
follows given to the Daily News may
be relied upon as truthful.

Frisco Reporters are Munchausens.

"Many of the stories of miners, returning with great wealth are the product of the imagination of the
'Frisco reporters," said Mr. Knight. I
am inclined to believe they exagger-
ate for the benefit of the
transportation companies that are looking for passage money. I became heartily sick of the reporters. They
have worked immense injury to many
a poor man, who, by reason of their
glowing accounts, has mortgaged his
home and left family and friends to
go to Alaska with the chances of failure greater than those of success.
The 'Frisco reporters paid no attention to the facts we gave them on our return. Their one question was 'How much money did you bring back with
you?' and in spite of our declarations
they printed our names and told of
the great fortunes with which we returned. The steamer Excelsior, on which I sailed from St. Michael's,
brought $1,500,000 in gold. It carried
seventy passengers and their average
possessions were $3,000 in gold each.
The rest of the gold belonged to the
commercial company."

Story of His Travels.

Mr. Knight left Darlington in the spring of 1896, sailed from Seattle to Dyes, crossed the Chilcoot pass April
17 and reached Circle City June 30.
He left Dawson City July 26, sailed
down the Yukon, reaching St. Michael's Aug. 31. He landed in San Francisco Sept. 15, had a good time and
then started for home. Having traveled both routes he favors that by the Chilcoot pass and will return by that
route next spring.

"The summit of the Chilcoot pass is
only twenty-nine miles from Dyes,
where you leave the steamer," said
Mr. Knight in explanation. "We waited three weeks at the foot of the
mountains on account of the storms
and then ascended over one fair day.
Nine miles from the summit a chain
of lakes is reached and one can
sail in a boat of his own
construction clear to the Yukon
in summer. The lakes were not all open when we made our trip. We walked 300 miles, drawing our packs on sledges across the lakes. Then we found open water and sailed to the big river and down it to Circle City.

Claim On Miller Creek.

"I went to the Birch creek diggings
and located a claim on Miller Creek.
Those diggings were virtually deserted
last fall when the big strike was made on Klondike. The strike, by the way,
was the outgrowth of an untrue yarn.
Miners up the river had up for grub-sent word that a big find had been made on the Klondike. This was done to get the transportation companies to bring provisions. Miners flocked to the Klondike, prospected and actually found the richest kind of dirt. For a radius of fifty miles the ground has been prospected and staked but there are hundreds of streams beyond where chances are equally good.

Mr. Knight has no claim on the Klondike but has two properties—one in the Birch Creek and another at Little Manook, a new diggings 450
miles down the river from Circle City
—and the latter is being negotiated

for by San Francisco parties $15,000
being the price named.

Prospecting in Winter.

Mr. Knight explains why the most successful prospecting is done in winter. In summer the waters of the creek are turned from its bed and shafts sunk, pay dirt is generally found near bed rock.
This requires the removal of the top dirt which is unprofitable and sometimes impossible on account of seepage. In winter water in the creeks is frozen solid. A shaft is sunk through the ice and down to bed rock.
If pay dirt is found by panning, water being obtained by melting snow, the dirt is followed. The miner tunnels, puts his dirt into a bucket and it is hauled to the surface by a windlass.
Every man has a partner. The frozen ground is thawed out over night by building fires. In the summer slices boxes are made, water turned on from the stream and then comes the clean up, the happiest moments of the miner's life, if he has found a rich claim. All this requires work and grim determination."

Pankiller and Oil Freeze.

"The summer opens about June 1
and continues until late in September.
The mercury goes up to 90, and the mosquitoes are terrible. During the summer one can read a newspaper any time of night in his tent without artificial light. From about June 20 to 25 the sun never sinks below the horizon. In winter the sun is seen but a few hours during the day, and it is so cold that pankiller, tested at 72 degrees, freezes hard. So do oils. However, I lived in a tent, wore Mackinaw
clothing, and did not suffer.

Advice to Gold Seekers.

"My advice to those going to Alaska
is to take an outfit that will last for
the length of time they intend to remain. Much money is not then necessary, as one is then independent of the commercial companies.
While laborers get fifteen dollars a day they cannot, unless they take their outfit with them, save any more than they can in the states. There is little chance to engage in business.
That is already overdone. There are enough saloons now and too many
the heavy drinker is not thought much of. Of course there are a great many disreputable men and women flocking into the country now. All kinds of gambling is permitted."

Provisions Are Scarce.

Mr. Knight thinks there will be much suffering from starvation in the Klondike country this winter. When he left, the company's stores and all restaurants had closed for lack of supplies and he knows of no way for provisions to be taken in until next summer.

NEW YARD FOR COAL COMPANY

Four Hundred Feet on River Street Leased
By Manager Neues

The Janesville Coal Company has rented four hundred feet of frontage
on South River street adjoining Oak street, and will move the coal yards
there either this fall or early in the spring. The deal was closed by Manager Peter C. Neues of the coal company and Superintendent Lawson of the Northwestern road. This newly acquired site is owned by the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company and adjoins the water works pumping station.

Manager Neues stated this morning that the work of erecting coal and wood sheds would begin this fall and that the railroad company would begin soon the erection of a four hundred foot span track.

The coal company will have an office up town as well as one on the grounds.

KNIGHT SAYS GOLD ISN'T EASY TO GET

EVEN KLONDIKE IS NO BED OF LUXURY.

Former Janesville Man Says News paper Stories Are Exaggerated and Advises His Friends to Remain in the States—Gold is Plentiful But Hard to Obtain.

Charles Knight, just back from Klondike, formerly lived in this city. For three years he was a reman of B. F.
Blanchard's cigar factory. Mr. Knight doesn't tell his Rock county friends
the same stories of fabulous wealth
that newspaper reports have suggested. He advises people to remain in the states, declaring that while gold
is plentiful in Alaska, it is very hard to obtain. Knight stopped off in Beloit on his way to his home in Darlington,
and was surrounded by a crowd
of excited questioners, anxious to clean all possible information concerning the lately discovered diggings of the far north. It was long after midnight before Mr. Knight succeeded in escaping to his room at the hotel. He enjoyed the bed furnished him, for it was a luxury that he has known but little of for nearly two years.

Except for the hat he wears, Mr.
Knight possesses none of the appearances of a miner who had endured the hardships of the interior of Alaska to gain gold. He is young, ruddy complexioned, bright eyed, well dressed—and single. He has, besides, two claims in the land of the midnight
sun, that may possibly bring him
riches.

Mr. Knight is Modest.

Mr. Knight is one of the men who
returned from the gold field frankly
admitting he did not bring back a
fortune with him. He says there are
many others. Color can be found everywhere. But the reports from
that country furnished by newspaper
men are not to be believed, he says.
He advises men who are making a
fairly good living in the states to remain where they are. Those who
have no ties to keep them here and are
bound to try their luck should go prepared to confront hardships and disap-
pointments and use their muscles in
digging—"for the miner is the man,"
to use his own expression. Mr.
Knight believes it to be his duty to
tell of Alaska just as he found it—if
he is asked—and so the story that
follows given to the Daily News may
be relied upon as truthful.

Frisco Reporters are Munchausens.

"Many of the stories of miners, returning with great wealth are the product of the imagination of the
'Frisco reporters," said Mr. Knight. I
am inclined to believe they exagger-
ate for the benefit of the
transportation companies that are
looking for passage money. I became
heartily sick of the reporters. They
have worked immense injury to many
a poor man, who, by reason of their
glowing accounts, has mortgaged his
home and left family and friends to
go to Alaska with the chances of failure greater than those of success.
The 'Frisco reporters paid no attention to the facts we gave them on our
return. Their one question was 'How
much money did you bring back with
you?' and in spite of our declarations
they printed our names and told of
the great fortunes with which we returned. The steamer Excelsior, on which I sailed from St. Michael's,
brought $1,500,000 in gold. It carried
seventy passengers and their average
possessions were $3,000 in gold each.
The rest of the gold belonged to the
commercial company."

Story of His Travels.

Mr. Knight left Darlington in the spring of 1896, sailed from Seattle to
Dyes, crossed the Chilcoot pass April
17 and reached Circle City June 30.
He left Dawson City July 26, sailed
down the Yukon, reaching St. Mich-
ael's Aug. 31. He landed in San Francisco Sept. 15, had a good time and
then started for home. Having traveled both routes he favors that by the Chilcoot pass and will return by that
route next spring.

"The summit of the Chilcoot pass is
only twenty-nine miles from Dyes,
where you leave the steamer," said
Mr. Knight in explanation. "We
waited three weeks at the foot of the
mountains on account of the storms
and then ascended over one fair day.
Nine miles from the summit a chain
of lakes is reached and one can
sail in a boat of his own
construction clear to the Yukon

FINLEY IS FINED FIFTY AND COSTS HIS BILL RUNS WELL UP TOWARD $200.

Many Neighbors Called in as Witnesses
The Case—Trial of Harry Hammes
On the Charge of Stealing a Horse
Is Now Up Before the Municipal Court.

It took the jury only ten minutes to find James E. Finley guilty of assaulting Daniel B. Emerson. Plenty of time was taken in submitting evidence, however, as the trial lasted two days and a half. The costs were $87.52 and adding the fine of $50
which Judge Phelps imposed, Finley will have to pay $137.52. Besides this there are the fees for three days' work
in court by attorneys.

The case of the State v. Henry Hammes was called at 10 o'clock this morning, and will continue through today and probably tomorrow.

The defendant is charged with horse stealing. Smith and Pierce are defending. District Attorney Jackson is prosecuting. The jury is composed of: O. H. Smith, Chas. Klacaid, Wm.
Meggott, W. H. Zader, F. F. Pierson,
John H. McVicar, John Smith, Chas.
Hamilton, Thomas Parkhurst, Chas.
F. Randall, Christ Weidt and Patrick
Butler.

Three drunks, all more or less chronic, came before the court during the morning. John Powers' countenance, full of solemnity, was the first
to appear before the bar of justice.
John is popularly known as the mayor of Afton and when arraigned was quite anxious to get back to his town, but the court decided that it would require several days to sober him up and stead, his nerves. Among other things he was told that in his present condition it would be practically impossible for him to get by all the saloons between here and Afton even if he had a guard. Three days was his portion, and he will take it straight.

Willie Dudley was uncertain as to where Chief Hogan found him but was quite sure that he was drunk.
He lives in Clinton and was anxious to get back to that village. He will have an opportunity day after tomorrow.

Michael Gagan also wanted to get off without sentence but like the others was given a short period in jail
for meditation.

VARIOUS NOTES.

A Ruche of Roses—Ostrich Boas—Openwork Stockings and Slippers.

The fancy for fluffiness and elaboration around the neck has in no wise abated. Among the novelties in neckwear are short boas composed entirely of large roses, placed close together so as to form a thick ruche. These boas are just large enough to encircle the neck and have long ends of either wide satin ribbons or gauze matching the roses in color.

Ostrich feather boas are also still fashionable. Black is, of course, always worn, but aside from that delicate, clear grays are the most fashionable. Sometimes these boas are mixed with down; sometimes they are divided into tails, or rather a tassel, at the ends. The gray shades are becoming only to women having color.

Openwork black lisle and silk stockings are much worn with slippers and low shoes. Plaid stockings are beginning to be seen, but are not likely to attain the popularity here that they enjoy in France. There is a revival of clocked hosiery, which is always pretty.

Felt hats are seen in all the colors of the rainbow and in a great variety of shapes.

Handkerchiefs with wide hemstitched borders are out of date this year. Borders are narrower, seldom exceeding an inch in width. The newest thing in mourning handkerchiefs is a square of dead black linen embroidered with white.

An illustration is given which shows a decidedly new jacket. The material is deep blue cloth, and the body of the jacket is close fitting, being quite smooth below the waist as well as above. The lower edge, the corners, the back and the shawl collar are ornamented with black passementerie. The sleeves, "a la juive," are open in front and are likewise enriched with black passementerie, and are lined with white silk. The jacket is closed by two large steel buttons.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

YOUNG GIRLS.

How to Clothe Them Healthfully and Comfortably.

The costuming of girls from 12 to 16 years old is nearly always a difficult matter. There are comparatively few who escape the awkwardness of the "awkward age," when they are leaving the domain of childhood and are yet not young ladies, in the social sense of the term. A girl who is exceptionally small, slender or graceful is of no trouble to herself or her friends, but the average girl is all angles and joints during the transitory time and drives her mother and dressmaker to desperation by her unadaptability. Growing tall before she fills out, she is all long, straight lines and does not know how to manage her suddenly acquired height, especially as she usually retains her tastes for childish amusements and untrammelled movement.

It is highly undesirable to clothe a young girl in rich materials, as they belong to maturity, not to youth. For ordinary wear English serge, diagonals, bureas and boucle or hairy goods are suitable. The skirt should be long enough to prevent an awkward look, but not of full length, and should be plain in front and at the hips unless it is full all around. At the back, however, it should always be full at the waist to give more bulk to the figure.

While it is often well to have the bodice close fitting at the back, it should be loose and vague in front, gathered, plaited or having a full vest or drape of some sort. The sleeves also should not be tight, as tightness accentuates the too great slenderness of the arms. Circular and horizontal trimmings are especially appropriate and becoming. The collar should be high and straight, not flaring.

The bodice should never be tight in any respect. The waistband should be of full size, not constraining the figure at all, and anyway room for breathing and development should be left everywhere, else the figure of the future woman will be injured, as well as her health, and health is a requisite of beauty. There is usually little need of increasing the slenderness of a young girl by adventitious means, and she should be left quite unhampered.

The illustration shows a long coat for a young girl. It is of amazon cloth and is close fitting behind, while in front it is straight and double breasted, fastening with two rows of large pearl buttons. This coat is cut so as to reach up over the hips, the space being filled by breadths of the same goods, upon which the body of the coat is fastened down by rows of stitching. The revers and collar are faced with plaid silk, and the sleeves have plaid silk cuffs.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Women and the Public Health.

A noteworthy achievement of the Ladies' Health Protective association of New York was the investigation, in 1885, of a district between East Eighty-ninth and East Ninety-third streets, called "Little Italy," where one lady reported eight families living in a single room, with their eight beds—such as they were—ranged against the walls. Three hundred cows, ill fed and filthy, were confined in the vicinity, to provide "pure country milk" for the city. In two years this whole neighborhood was renovated.

Some time ago the association undertook the work of exposing the shocking condition of stable refuse in the city. The facts which Mrs. Fendler, as chairman of the committee concerned, brought to light seem almost too revolting to believe possible in a land which holds that "cleanliness is next to godliness." The women met such fierce opposition from the stablemen that their bill was not admitted to the legislature, but an ordinance secured from the board of health marks one step in advance.

A story told by Mayor Strong at the convention of the Ladies' Health Protective association held last spring amusingly illustrates some further results of their efforts. The mayor saw a man standing at the door of a livery stable, complaining of the dirty condition of the place. "If you don't have this cleaned right away," said the man, "I'll report you to the Ladies' Health Protective association." "Oh, for God's sake, don't!" exclaimed the stable keeper. "Come again next week and see if it isn't clean."—Edith Parker Thomson in Forum.

A Woman Under Fire.

A woman who carries the scar of a gunshot wound received while on duty on the field of battle is certainly not often heard of or even read about, says the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, but there is a woman of Cincinnati with such a noble and remarkable record, and her wound was received during the war of the rebellion.

In 1861 Second Lieutenant Dick, her husband, left for the war, and soon afterward she followed him to the front for the purpose of succoring the sick and wounded soldiers as well as to be at the side of her husband.

She was a few yards only from her husband at Chancellorsville when he fell, his side crushed by a flying piece of shell. He was unconscious from the first, but she thinks he recognized her once. While removing her husband from the field, assisted by tender, willing hands of comrades, Mrs. Dick was wounded. A spent musket ball struck her just above the ankle of the left leg, burying itself in the flesh and between two bones.

Mrs. Dick would not stop to have the wound examined, but assisted in the removal of her husband across the pontoon bridge. Indeed, she says, so great was her distress of mind over the condition of her husband that she scarcely felt the pain. Twelve hours after receiving the wound Captain Dick died in her arms.

Woman and Labor.

"Woman," says The Southern Economist, "must either be a help or a hindrance in the great labor movement for the uplifting and betterment of the condition of men who work for wages. Woman has been an important factor in every reform movement of the world. Her sweet, persuasive voice, her refining influence and her spirit of heroic sacrifice have given force and dignity to every movement that sprang from the noble impulses of men which had for its purpose the betterment of the race. Woman has gilded the horrors of the battlefield and the lonely hospital with gleams of sunshine, and now, in this last supreme effort on the part of the rightful protectors of the home to save themselves from European conditions and save woman from the degradation which necessarily follows the degradation of labor, woman must lend them aid."

An occasional open fire during the rainy or cool days in early fall is a great luxury. It takes away the gloom one is apt to feel in cloudy weather and all the unpleasant effects of moisture about a house. Leave open all the doors and windows and kindle an open fire, and the sanitary condition is bettered without raising the temperature.

The Electrical Worker says that if the women employed in shops and factories would quit work three-fourths of them would be married in two years. Men would be needed for their places, wages would advance and an epidemic of marriage would follow.

Good Printing...

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.

The kind of printing as well as the kind of painting that it pays to do and to have done is that which obtains this "second glance." Plenty of the other kind!

We are PRINTERS. Our work obtains glances of admiration, and thus leads on to the end desired. We don't do the "other kind." Put our job room to the test.

UNAVARIES

I would not have you so kindly
Thus early in friendship's year.
A little too gently, blindly,
You let me near.

So long as my voice is duly Calm as a friend's should be,
In my eyes the danger surely
You will not see.

The eyes that you lift so brightly,
Frankly, to welcome mine
You bend them again as lightly
And note no sign.

I had rather your pale cheek reddened
With the flush of an angry pride,
That a look with clanking deadened
My gaze defied.

If so in the spring's full season
Your glance should soften and fall,
When, reckless with fever's unreason,
I tell you all.

—The Late H. C. Banner in Scribner's Magazine.

MY PATIENT.

It was about 5 o'clock one Saturday afternoon, a time when the east end doctor sometimes, but not always, gets a few minutes' rest.

The inner door was pushed slowly open, and the head of a thorough little gutter urchin appeared. He was a capital specimen of the London "gamin"—naked feet and legs up to the knee, ragged trousers, a thin cotton shirt, open at the chest, a ragged coat and no hat. He was grewsomely dirty, but his thin, almost delicate fingers told me at once that he was a pickpocket.

"I want Dr. Prebble," he said in a hoarse voice.

"Well, you've got him," I answered.

"Bill's fell down and hurt 'isself," he said slowly.

"Who is Bill?" I asked.

A shade of disappointment passed over his face. I had evidently fallen in his opinion. My not knowing Bill proved conclusively that I had not mixed in the choicest society.

"E's our lodger," he said cautiously, "an I ain't a-goin to tell you no more."

"Why didn't he go to a hospital?" "I dunno," he said. "E was at work, and fell off of something. So 'e come 'ome. That's all."

Luckily a medical man is safe in almost any neighborhood. Moreover, I was well known, and as I went along I heard the gossip saying:

"There goes the doctor. He's come to see after Bill."

Clearly Bill was a celebrity.

At last my guide stopped at a house, and, nodding to a woman who stepped on one side to let us enter, said, "It's all right, old gal."

I found out subsequently that the "old gal" addressed was the young gentleman's mother. Respect for parents is not a leading feature in that neighborhood.

Without wasting a minute I knelt on the floor to examine Bill's injuries. I found they were serious—a dislocated shoulder, two ribs broken and internal injuries, which might prove more serious still.

On his fingers were the marks of oakum picking, which showed that Bill was an ex-jailbird, and in the corner of the room stood a suspicious looking bag, out of which peered a jimmy. It was then fairly safe to assume that Bill had met with an accident while engaged in his professional duties as a housebreaker. He was educated. One could see that at once by the development of his brow. In his face, too, there were some lingering traces of refinement.

I looked up at the boy, who was watching me carefully, and I have no doubt, reading my thoughts.

"You ain't a-goin to tell no tales, gov'nor?"

"My business is to cure him if I can," I said briefly. "Now, I want your help."

With some difficulty I managed to get his shoulder back into position. Then I set his ribs. Beyond that I could do nothing until he recovered sufficiently to answer a few questions.

It was necessary to find a nurse. The man ought to have been in a hospital, but it was impossible to move him. Indeed, it was almost a miracle that he had ever reached home in such a mangled condition.

Not far from my dispensary there was a nursing institution, supported by some ladies, who devoted their time and money to nursing the poor in their own houses. The matron was a splendid woman, who never stopped to inquire whether a case was deserving. The fact that a man or woman was ill was all that she cared about. Their crimes and shortcomings she left to other people.

Miss Shepherd listened to my story with her usual sympathy.

"There is only one young lady I can send," she said thoughtfully, "and she has not had much experience. However, we must do something. I'll introduce her to you and see what you think."

It is a curious thing that on first seeing that girl she did not strike me as at all good looking. Since then I have learned to know her well, and I think her one of the most beautiful women in the world.

In these years of work among the poorest of the poor I met no woman of such a radiant, glorious nature as the pale faced girl whom I saw for the first time that Saturday evening.

To my great disappointment on reaching the sickroom her composure quite gave way. I had hoped she would be strong enough to maintain her self control, instead of which she trembled and turned deadly white, looking almost in elated to burst into tears.

"Come, come, Miss Clinton!" I said. "You must get accustomed to scenes of distress. If you break down, you won't be able to help me at all."

"I beg your pardon, Dr. Prebble," she stammered hastily. "It was only the first shock. Everything is so horrible. You may depend on my doing what you require."

Then I explained the case to her carefully and taught her the duties of a nurse as well as I could in such a short time.

Miss Clinton must have nursed her patient better than I expected she would, for he passed a fairly good night, and when I saw him at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning the fever had abated somewhat, leaving him, of course, very weak and in a more or less precarious condition.

The nurse whom Miss Shepherd had sent to take charge of the case during the day was a highly experienced woman, whom I knew well.

"It's a bad case, doctor," she said. "Will you pull him through?"

"I can't say yet," I answered. "I'll see you tomorrow morning. What can I do to relieve Miss Clinton?"

"At 8 o'clock," she didn't like to say, away, but I insisted on her leaving. I rest I can't help thinking that Miss Clinton takes something of a personal interest in the case, "said the day nurse.

"Have you read the morning's paper?"

"Not yet. Is there anything in it?"

She produced a tuncay paper and pointed to a paragraph headed "Daring Attempted Burglary." The burglars had entered a window on the first floor by means of a ladder, but they were disturbed at their work and had been forced to escape hurriedly, leaving the booty behind them. It struck me at once that in all probability Bill was one of the burglars. In making his escape he had no doubt fallen from the ladder.

But there was another feature in the case which was more striking still. The owner of the house which had been entered was named Clinton.

On first seeing the sick man Miss Clinton had lost her composure to an extent that surprised me. What was the link that bound these three people together—a wealthy city merchant, a young lady devoting herself to work among the poor and a broken down ex-convict lying sick, perhaps dying, in an east end slum?

On returning to his bedside at 5 o'clock in the afternoon I found Miss Clinton was again on duty. She was quite calm and self possessed and without a trace of nervous excitement.

The progress which had been shown in the morning was all lost and a change had set in for the worse. A brief examination told me that he was in a state of collapse, which was the one thing I dreaded. Within a few hours he would be a dead man.

"When will it be?" she said in a steady voice.

"Before midnight," I answered.

"Would you like me to stay with you, or shall I ask Miss Shepherd to send somebody in your place?"

"I will watch alone."

"Are you a relative of the Mr. Clinton whose house was entered Saturday morning?" I asked, leading her to the window.

"He is my uncle," she said.

"And who is Bill?" I asked.

"He is my brother."

She spoke in the same steady voice.

"He went wrong as a boy of 19," she continued. "My uncle might have saved him, but refused to. That is why I have taken up nursing. I knew he had sunk, but I didn't know he had come to this. I hoped I might find him if I mixed with the poor."

In one little matter I was able to save her some pain.

At the door I met an officer in plain clothes whom I knew by sight.

"I'm after a man for the Forest Gate robbery. I hear he is in this house."

"He is up stairs," I said, "but you are too late. He is dying." The detective hesitated.

"I give you my word as a physician that he will be dead before midnight. If you arrest him, he will certainly die on the road to the station. Do you know his real name?" I asked.

The detective looked at me sharply.

"No; what is it?"

"William Clinton, a nephew of the man he tried to rob. At the present moment his sister is watching by his bed."

The officer made a note of it in his book.

"I shall have to keep an eye on him, doctor," he said kindly, "but you may depend I shan't interfere, for the sake of the young lady."

And so William Clinton passed through the gate of life in peace.—Answers.

The Way to Teach.

Any method which is productive of lasting and beneficial results is a good method. "Reasoning," says Locke, "is the faculty of deducing unknown truths from principles already familiar."

The principal difficulty with teachers today is the same as Horace Mann pointed out years ago, "We do too much telling and too little teaching." Professor Dewey says of present day methods, "They succeed in crushing out all spontaneous interest in the subject itself even if they do not all but destroy a capacity for it."

It is this spontaneous interest that must be awakened and kept alive. The teacher must be spontaneous, enthusiastic, very much alive. Such a teacher never uses a textbook during a recitation, is ready and apt in his illustrations, pleasing in manner of presentation, able to present the same thing in different ways, never resorts to sarcasm as a means of correction or to cover up his own lack of information, gets his class where the members are not afraid to try, sits little during recitation, possibly not at all, censures sparingly, praises much. But this kind of teaching takes time for careful preparation, and much hard work is required.—Journal of Pedagogy.

For a Sty In the Eye.

When you feel that pricking pain and see the fatal little spot of red on the eyelid which surely foretells the coming of a sty, put into a small bag a teaspoonful of black tea, on which pour enough boiling water to moisten. As soon as cool enough put it on the eye and let it remain until morning. The sty will in all probability be gone. If not, one more application will be certain to remove it.—Good Housekeeping.

ARE TEETH DISAPPEARING?

A Terrible Callamity Promised for the Coming Generations.

What is to be done about it, or will the future race be content to do without teeth? asks the Boston Herald. According to an experienced dentist, education is playing sad havoc with the teeth of the modern generation. The change in them has been apparently rapid, more so than in other physical deteriorations, and, dentistry having become a science, the cause is sought with hopes to stay the effect. Formerly, says the dentist, decayed teeth were attributed to a fondness for sweets, but this idea is a mistake. Sugar is nourishing, and taken with a wholesome diet and proper care of the teeth it doesn't harm them. The truth is that the ancient sturdy square jaw of the Anglo-Saxon race is changing through over-much study and over-reduction to a V shape, which presses the molars one upon the other and does not give them room to grow, and will in time prevent them cutting at all. The horse lost his five toes through disease; man is about to lose his "wisdom" teeth through a like process. The "wisdomers" are already missing in many jaws. This, singular to relate, makes the "educated jaw."

English women are not averse to this V-shaped angle of chin. They are distinguished for the length and breadth of the teeth, and would gladly see their ivory diminish under the new facial form. Gilton and Newnam, Radcliffe and Vassar are responsible for much of this "educated" jaw. The young men are not sorry to have less teeth to be filled, and as personal vanity plays little part in their physical culture they would as soon be toothless as not. But suppose more study, more "higher education" aids this process of evolution and in the course of time the grandchildren of the students of today have jaws like chipmunks and never, no, never, cut any teeth, what then? Will the dentists' occupation be gone; or will they, as a writer suggests, then manufacture complete artificial sets for people from the day of their birth onward?

Masanelli, the Fisherman of Naples.

In the year 1847 Masanelli, a fisherman of Naples, then twenty-seven years old, became leader of a successful revolt against the Duke of Arcos, the tyrannical Spanish viceroy of Naples. After he had been raised by mob favor to a height of power more despotic than monarch ever wielded, he only a week later shot by the same populace in the streets, as if he had been a mad dog. His headless trunk was dragged through the mire for several hours, and cast at nightfall into the city ditch. On the morrow the tide of popular feeling turned once more in his favor, his corpse was sought, arrayed in royal robes, and buried magnificently by torchlight in the cathedral, ten thousand armed men, and as many mourners, attending at the ceremony. The fisherman's dress which he had worn was rent into shreds by the crowds, to be preserved as relics, the door of his hut was pulled off its hinges by a mob of women and eagerly cut into small pieces, to be made into images, caskets and other mementoes. The scanty furniture of his poor abode became of more value than the adornments of a palace; the ground he had walked upon was considered sacred, and, being collected in small phials, was sold at its weight in gold, and worn in the bosom as an amulet.

Teed Says the End Is Near.

Cyrus H. Teed, the self-styled "Kore-shan prophet," whose doings are familiar to readers, is still on earth. In an address in Englewood, a Chicago suburb, the other night, he stated that the world was about to come to an end, though he couldn't give the exact date. The Koreshtes will soar aloft fast enough to get out of the fire.

Bridge Built on Whisky Barrels.

The little village of Hartford, on the Pequimans river, in eastern North Carolina, boasts the possession of the only floating bridge, supported by airtight whisky barrels, in the world. This bridge was the happy idea of an old inhabitant half a century ago, and its result still stands, a monument to his genius.

A Tip to Butchers.

Use Pearline. Have your place a little neater and cleaner and sweeter than other places. Did you ever see a Parisian butcher shop? Well, you can make yours just as dainty and attractive by taking a little trouble with Pearline. Isn't this worth something in these days of competition? But the foundation of all this cleanliness, and the only thing that makes it possible, is Pearline.

Beware

Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. JAMES FYLE, N. Y.

Cool Weather Will Soon Be Here;

You'll Need New Fall Underwear.....

Therefore we think you'll be interested in what we have to say about our Underwear stock. First of all we'll tell you that, although the new tariff bill will make certain grades of Underwear much higher our prices for the coming season will not be advanced. We placed our orders early and obtained the fall stock at prices much lower than we could buy the goods for now. You can share the benefit.

For Men

We have just opened a case of that popular article, the "Buckskin" Underwear, and from its name you might infer that it's too heavy for your needs; but not so; on the contrary it's a medium heavy weight, it is all wool, has no burrs, and is made for first-class trade. No matter how sensitive a man is to wool garments he can wear these with comfort. Shirts are sizes 34 to 44; Drawers, 32 to 44. Price, per garment, $1.00, and worth it.

The "Kalamazoo" Skirt...

We have the sale of them for Janesville and there is nothing made in this country to equal them for service. Made particularly well of an extra heavy fabric; they are especially suited for wear with heavy dresses. Prices $1.25 to $3.00.

Priestley's Black Goods....

Standard of the world and known by the varnished board upon which they are rolled. A special purchase of ten pieces at very much under price enables us to offer them at nearly half value. Width is 42 inches and there are several different designs and figures. Per yard, 50c.

A Little More Cost Brings Big Profits.

The addressing, folding, inclosing, sealing and stamping of five thousand circulars, with postage, will cost at least $65, whether the circular is good or bad. Notwithstanding this fixed charge, some strive to save a dollar or two on the cost of printing, although the goods advertised are to be judged by the character of the printing, just as a house is judged by the character of its salesmen. Good printing costs but little more, and that "little more" brings greater returns than any other part of the cost. Order your printing where good work is assured.

Finest Car of the Season.

Janesville has not seen a car of Fruit this season such as we received yesterday from Chicago markets. We take no back seat for anybody. The quality is all that any person could ask for, even the most critical buyer. It is a hard matter this season to obtain a class of Fruit anywhere near equal to last year's crop. Especially has it been so with peaches, pears and apples, but our buyer succeeded in securing the choicest lot that has been offered in the city this season.

Extra choice Crawford Peaches, every one sound and large; far ahead of former Fruit offerings. Fancy California Bartlett Pears, certainly luxuries at this season of the year and a very scant article. Gross Prunes, Italian Prunes, Silver Prunes--all of them Idaho mountain grown. California Tokay Grapes, fancy New York Concord Grapes--the only ones in the city. Fancy Delaware Grapes selected personally, every basket.

Great Line of Canning Pears

New York Bartlett, Louis Bond and Duchess. Any of them remarkably nice for preserves; all solid and good size. Apples--Fancy Snow Apples and Jonathan Apples for eating; Northern Spies, Vandiver Pippins, Rambonett and Grunes Golden for cooking. The Apple crop this year will be limited, and consequently, prices will be rather high. The stock we have is the choicest to be found; it is all personally selected.

Table Luxuries

Fancy fresh Lettuce, 2 heads for 5c. Fresh shelled Lima Beans, 15c a quart. Cauliflower, large fine heads, 10c each. Columbia River Salmon, direct from Portland, Oregon, only 10 cents per pound.

The store of the people.

C. A. SANBORN & CO.

The Grocerymen.

Remarkable Progress of a New Store.

THE LEADER is enjoying an immense trade, which, considering the comparatively short time it has been in business, is remarkable. There are plenty of good reasons why it should have a large majority of the economical buyers as its customers. First--THE LEADER carries the stock that has not its equal in Southern Wisconsin for variety or quality. Second--Its prices on goods of every description are lower by half than than any other dealer's in this section of the country. THE LEADER discounts every bill and secures the very lowest figures obtainable on all commodities, and it sells articles for what other stores pay for them. Third--THE LEADER has a business principle that wins friends for it with each transaction no matter how small it may be; it treats everybody alike, does not take advantage of anyone, does not make one price to one person and another to the next. A child can get the same courteous treatment in its one-cent purchases as the older person with his $25 or $50 investments. THE LEADER is a department store; it sells everything and anything that is of use to the human family; its stock is increasing every day, new lines are being added constantly, and every new idea that can be thought of in connection with THE LEADER'S popularity with the public is being acted upon. Our store is always crowded; you wonder why? If you have a purchase to make and come to us for it you won't remain puzzled long. A guaranteed saving of 25 to 50 per cent. on all lines; its low prices and reliable goods make lively purchasing.

EVERYTHING THAT IS MADE IN

Tinware, Graniteware, Agateware, Hollow-Ware, Steelware, Kitchen Utensils, Hardware, Willow-Ware, Woodenware, Etc.,

We sell at half the price of other dealers. Our CROCKERY and GLASSWARE department is worthy of especial notice. We import direct from England and France the daintiest goods imaginable--the prettiest pieces and sets of dishes, and at the lowest prices Janesville ever saw. You can buy Jewelry, Watches, Cutlery, Carving Sets, Toilet Articles, Albums, Dolls, Trunks and Satchels, Telescopes--anything and everything you want, and at just half the price of other stores.

...THE STOVE YOU BUY...

Must be a good one. SUNSHINE STOVES AND RANGES are the best. A written guarantee with every one; over 75 different patterns, from $2.50 up. We sell you a heating or a cooking Stove 35 to 45 per cent. cheaper than you have been in the habit of paying; a man of lifelong hardware and stove experience in charge of the department--Mr. Adam Sanner; he sees personally to every Stove, to setting up all stoves and looking after all details. The easiest way to be convinced of any matter is to come in personal contact with it; that's what what we want you to do in THE LEADER'S case--come and see for yourself, get acquainted with facts; take nobody's word, get our prices, see our goods and you will know then how truthful every statement we have made is. We welcome you, buy or not as you please.
